From Love and Clean Outdoors Into a Battle With Souls at Stake And Shame as Their Only Reward

WHEN LIFE WAS NOTHING BUT JOY Mr. and Mrs. Snyder in a happy skating group in the days before tragedy darkened home. The Snyders are the two centre figures in the back row.

GRAY REMAINS UNSHAKEN IN DEATH STORY AFTER MANY GRILLING HOURS ON STAND

"I certainly do that is the truth," Gray answered, and Wallace gave up the cross-examination and turned the witness over to the State for re-examination by District Attorney Richard Newcombe. The State's cross-examination was very brief. Until taken in hand by the State, Gray was on the stand 16 hours and 14 minutes. His remarkable story of the murder and his declaration that Mrs. Snyder was the instigator of the plot and an actual participant in the killing was unshaken throughout.

Wallace did not press Gray on his statements with "three Alices." He asked Gray if he had told Mrs. Snyder that he owed one of them $30 and Gray denied that he had. He said he visited the home of one of them pointing at a single man, and that he went to dance with another.

Later Wallace read from one of Gray's statements that he "was always a perfect gentleman." He asked Gray if he conducted with Alice and Mrs. Snyder was always that of a gentleman. "My actions with Alice were always that of a perfect gentleman and she was always a perfect lady," Gray replied. "Did your wife know you went out with her?" he was asked. "Yes," he answered, of his state through a remark Gray was again compelled to answer as part of the murder night. He choked over his reply. He choked over his reply. He choked over his reply.

Gray Grilled on Girl Friends and Night Clubs

Long Island City, N. Y., May 2 (A.P.)—Cross-examination of Henry David Gray by counsel for the State, Richard Newcombe, today was not shaking his story in substance. He was dry-eyed and calm throughout, although he wept freely during examination by his lawyer.

Judge Calls Halt On "Picnickers" in Snyder Court

Long Island City, N. Y., May 2 (A.P.)—All spectators carrying packages were stopped at the main entrance to the courthouse today and the packages were investigated to see if they contained lunch.

Court officers at the Snyder trial said that spectators who have stayed in the courtroom during noon recesses as not to lose their seats, have turned the room into a picnic ground, leaving bottles and refuse about the floor.

All eating in the courtroom has been stopped.

Immediately began cross-examination for the State when Attorney Dana Wallace of Mrs. Snyder's counsel had finished with the witness. The State's cross-examination was brief, lasting only about half an hour.

At court, opened today, Mrs. Snyder sat staring straight at Gray as he took the stand for his final ordeal in the witness chair.

"All Right, Mr. Wallace!"

Gray insisted his drinking had increased to such an extent that he was in desperate straits for money. The courteous manner in which Gray answered all questions, concluding sentences with a polite "Yes, Mr. Wallace," seemed to annoy the examining attorney.

"Don't call me 'Wallace,'" he snapped. "All I want of you is just yes or no to my questions."

"Very well, Mr. Wallace," Gray agreed and Wallace stared at him. The very questioning died in its tracks with a $1,000 loan Gray got shortly before Snyder was killed. Gray said he borrowed the money to buy some stock in the company he worked for.

"You have admitted the slaying of Albert Snyder, have you not?" Wallace suddenly asked, and Gray's mumbled objection was sustained. The question was withdrawn and rephrased.

"Q—You have sworn to the part you took in the series of acts that resulted in the death of Albert Snyder?" A—I have told the truth. Q—Why did you take that part in the attack on Snyder? What had you to gain by his death? That is what I would like to know.

Q—You mean you had nothing to gain? A—I certainly did not.

Always in a "Haze"

The questioning then turned to the events in Syracuse when Gray prepared an alibi and got rid of damning evidence.

"All those actions were purely automatic," Gray said. Q—And you lied to your friend, Hudson Gray, about what occurred in Queens Village? A—Yes.

Q—You mean about this "automatic" business; that you were drunk? A—I was in a haze. Q—A drunken haze? A—Yes.

Q—When did you come out of this condition? A—Not completely until I had been brought back here and put in jail.

Q—Do you know what you told Hudson Gray? A—I did not recall the details until I heard him testify here.

Q—But you remembered some? A—I remembered saying there had been a burglary and I got blood on me in leaving over to see if he was dead.

Wallace then launched on a long involved question that was interrupted by the State.

All Named Alice

"Is this a question or a summation?" the State asked, and Justice Seeger replied: "It is very close to a summation."

Wallace laughed sarcastically and withdrew the question. His examination dealt almost entirely with minute details of previous testimony, trying to shake the witness' story under direct examination.

Q—Do you know a girl named Alice? A—I know many. Q—Well, do you know one in Buffalo? A—I know three of them in Buffalo.

One of these Alices, Gray said, was a newspaper woman he had known for years. He said her "pet name" was "Snatch."

Wallace then referred to testimony by Mrs. Snyder that Gray had borrowed $30 to repay a debt to a girl called "Snatch."

Gray said he had no recollection of giving Mrs. Snyder that reason for borrowing from her.

Examination then turned to the "massive domination," Gray said Mrs. Snyder held over him.

Q—But it was you who suggested the trip upstate to visit her nerves, wasn't it? A—Yes.

Q—It is possible you wanted to get her nerves into shape so that she could carry through a plan to kill her husband, a plan originated by you? A—That is not true.

Q—On the night of the killing you were drunk? A—Yes.

Q—But your mind was clear enough so that you hid in the dark room last Snyder saw you? A—Mrs. Snyder had told me to.

Mid Just Automatically

Q—But you would have hidden from Snyder anyway to protect yourself? A—Of course, automatically.

Wallace then quoted the part of Gray's testimony where he said he called to Mrs. Snyder to help him and beat her husband.

Q—Is that testimony true? A—Certainly is.

Q—Why isn't it in your signed confession? A—They didn't ask me for details when I made the confession.

There was then lengthy examination as to whether Gray wore his skin or rubber gloves at the time of the attack on the woman called "Snatch" and as to whether he had a knife.

Q—When you got in that room did you see Albert Snyder's face? A—No.

Q—And you see him at all? A—No.

Q—You couldn't even see his face in the light from the air light that was showing through the window? A—I could see the outline of his face.

Q—And you hit him? A—Yes.

Q—And you claim that after you hit him, he ran up and grasped your neck? A—No, he didn't.

WINSOR MCAY SHOWS YOU FULL VIEW OF SNYDER STAGE AND STARS

This drawing by the famous artist shows in the foreground the subtleties of the expressions of the chief actors as they play their roles in the Snyder murder trial. Arrows show the position of each on the "stage." Justice Seeger is horrified by what Gray says. Mrs. Snyder's mother listens in a bewildered maze to the shame of her daughter—and on the very edge of Mothers' Day, too!

INDICT TWO AS EMBREZZLERS OF CITY FUNDS

Manchester, N. H., May 2 (N.H.S.)—Secret indictments charging Arthur W. Elnahy, city clerk, and William J. O'Brien, former city clerk, with embezzlement of municipal funds were made known today by Thomas D. Leon, clerk of Hills County Superior Court.

Phineas is specifically charged with embezzling and fraudulently converting to his own use $12,125.36 on January 25, 1925. O'Brien is charged with converting to his own use $2,255.48 on January 15, 1925.

Although the indictments do not show what department was affected by the alleged embezzlement it is reported that the funds were taken from the department of automobiles registration connected with the city clerk's office.

No arrests have been made, but it is expected that the two men will appear in Superior Court to plead when the remainder of the regular session is announced.

THREE ARE BURNED AS OIL STOVE EXPLODES

As an exploding oil stove at No. 141 Summit avenue today caused loss to three persons who were elected to remain rather than go to the refuge center.

Mississippi led the list with 169,941, many of whom are Louisianaians, with a slight influx of Missourians, was second, with 114,373. Last reports from field workers in Louisiana have a total of 27,745 persons under Red Cross care there, with the expectation that it would be between 35,000 and 40,000.

Four upper valley States not severely visited by the floods had Missouri, 11,821; Illinois, 8,600; Tennessee, 4,222; and Kentucky, 3,022. In the latter commonwealth were many refugees from Missouri.

Injuries Fatal

323,837 CARED FOR IN FLOOD BY RED CROSS

Memphis, Tenn., May 2 (A.P.)—Raging torrents of the unprecedented Mississippi Valley flood today, after more than three weeks' rampage, had placed 323,837 persons, a record number for disaster, under care of the American Red Cross.

The flood swelled hourly as additional flood waters poured from broken dikes in Louisiana and officials would make no attempt to predict the final total.

The new mark, announced by Henry M. Baker, national director of disaster relief, does not include complete counts from the inundated sections of Louisiana. Continual movement of refugees there in addition to the emergency situation which has prevented field workers from making their reports, may delay the complete check several days.

Of the 323,837 persons, 173,564 are refugees in sixty concentration camps in seven States. The others are persons receiving food or other supplies in their flooded homes or upper floors of town buildings and in other places where they have elected to remain rather than go to the refuge center.

Mussolini Cuts Own Salary and Will Lower Prices

Rome, May 2.—Mussolini's salary has been cut. He sent his thanks to the ministers who decreed the decrease.

The Council of Ministers decided to remove the additions to all government salaries made when the lira dropped to thirty to the dollar. Prices will have to come down with salaries, the premier declared in his approval of the ministers' action.

The government will begin a move to lower prices by reducing railroad, telephone and postal rates. Merchants and hotels must fall in line, Mussolini announced, as their high prices are driving tourists from the country.

RUNAWAY TEAM INJURES 2 MEN, RUINS 2 CARS

In a runaway in Swampscott, at noon today, a team of horses, owned by the North Shore Ice Company of Lynn, wrecked two automobiles, injured the driver of both cars and then ran through the plate glass window of a delicatessen store.

The horses became frightened by a moon whistle as they stood in Humphrey street. The men in charge of the team, Walter Tuill and James McCulloch, were at the rear of the wagon and were helped to stop the animals as they started down Humphrey street at a mad gallop.

Near the head of an S curve in Humphrey street the careening ice wagon crashed into the sedan of Bernard Goldstein of Lynn. A fence was torn from the car and Goldstein, alone in the car, was cut by glass from the windshield.

The team continued unchecked and near the foot of the S curve the wagon crashed into the closed car of Edward M. Kearns of Natick. The Kearns machine was wrecked and Kearns was cut badly by flying glass.

At Burrill street and Paradise road the team swerved from the street to the sidewalk and crashed through the glass front of the Third National Delicatessen store.

Patrolmen John Wall and Henry Pedrick were attracted by the crash and succeeded in stopping the team. Both horses were badly hurt about the legs.

Kearns was assisted from the wreckage of his car and his wounds were dressed at the office of a physician after which he was taken home.

Goldstein is out-of-line, and the moon whistles were used when the team was out of control. The team was sent to the Metropolitan stable and the horses were sent to the Metropolitan stable.

DE PINEDO HOP TO HUB IS SET FOR MONDAY

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Francisco De Pinedo was tuning up his seaplane, the Santa Maria II, today, preparatory to a trial flight tomorrow. As he watched the weather, none too promising, the Italian aviator, whose four-continent flight was interrupted when his plane was burned in Arizona, said he expected to resume his journey Monday or Tuesday.

The first lap will be from Roosevelt Field, Long Island, to Boston. The Santa Maria II, arriving last week from Georgia, is ready for a test. He will have no radio on his craft.

Asked when he expected to reach Rome, he was vague.

"Perhaps by the end of the month," he said, adding, "perhaps never."

The route as outlined by De Pinedo called for a visit to Boston, then to Philadelphia, on to Charleston, S. C.; Pensacola, Fla.; Memphis, Tenn.; St. Louis, Chicago and Montreal.

From Montreal he planned to go through Quebec to Trepanay, Newfoundland, to begin the first lap of his trans-Atlantic flight. His destination will be Horta, with the next stop after the Azores fixed for Cadix, Spain.

CHAPLIN FIGHTS LITA'S PLEA FOR $1,136,500

Los Angeles, May 6 (A.P.).—A fight to the finish between Charles Chaplin and his estranged wife, with the comedian's millions pitted against Mrs. Chaplin's sensational divorce charges, was pressed today after it had been made known that negotiations for a settlement involving more than $1,000,000 have failed.

The settlement offer was made by Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys in a telegram sent last Monday to Gavin McNab, the comedian's chief counsel in San Francisco. Terms of the offer were not revealed, however, until yesterday, when it was learned that the offer had been rejected.

The first intimation that the negotiations had failed came from Lloyd Wright, one of Chaplin's attorneys here, who issued a statement saying Mrs. Chaplin had demanded $1,000,000 in cash from his client.

Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys, Lyndell L. Young and Edwin T. Murray, promptly produced a copy of a telegram which they said they had sent to McNab offering to settle for $650,000 and a share of the earnings of Chaplin's latest feature picture, "The Gold Rush."

A share in his uncompleted production, "The Circus," on which work was dropped when the Chaplins separated last Fall, also was asked.

According to testimony at a recent alimony hearing, Chaplin's total income from "The Gold Rush" has been $1,250,000. Mrs. Chaplin's settlement offer asked 25 per cent. of the latter sum, or $312,500. Exclusive of the earnings of the projected picture, "The Circus," this would make her demand total at least $1,136,500.

GUARDSMEN "FLAKING" THE LINE

AIRSHIP SNARING FEED LINE
Commander C. C. Von Paulsen of Base 7, U. S. Coast Guard Air Station, Gloucester, is the originator of this new idea to send out a breeches buoy to ships in distress. Two poles are set up and across their tops is placed the thin feed line, attached to the buoy rope. The plane flies low, having a long rope, lead weighted on the end, which sweeps between the poles, snaring the feed line. (N.R.)

62 CROOKS TOLD TO 'GET OUT' BY CHICAGO CHIEF

Chicago, May 6 (A.P.)—Three-score and two known crooks, hoodlums, gang-arm men and racketeers have been ordered to leave Chicago at once, and to get away.

Chief of Detectives William O'Connor read the riot act to the 62 prisoners, calling them from their cells one by one and employing the argot the prisoners best understood.

"Take it from me," the chief said, "you fellows are in for an awful drubbing. We have made up our minds that you can't do business in Chicago—and that means you can't."

"Just so there is no misunderstanding, I'll tell you how we're going to proceed against you. We're going to throw you in jail every time we see you, and keep throwing you in jail every time we see you. We'll charge you with vagrancy, and if we can't make you stick we'll give you the cell."

Crackers and Water End Strike of Jailbirds

California Prison Farm, N. C., May 6 (A.P.)—The more than three hundred white convicts who went on strike Wednesday night for a 55-hour working week and Saturday afternoons off, had yielded today to the lure of crackers and water.

After having wrecked their cell house, the mutineers were quelled, and the policy of "no work, no food" was put into effect.

The prisoners went without food for 24 hours, but on promise of crackers and water for those who denounced the ringleaders there was a wholesale surrender.

around so that it will keep you stirring lawyers and getting out of writs of habeas corpus.

"When anybody is going to be taken for a ride from now on it will be the police who do the taking. And we'll be glad if you were to try to run away from a plain policeman going to get a raise in pay for riding the two of you for all time."

Some of the prisoners protested, but most of them told the chief they were "wise" in his meaning.

NOW THOSE SKUNKS; YES, THEY ALSO BITE

Tucson, Ariz., May 6 (A.P.)—Skunks also bite, so says John Waisfield, forest service employee, who is nursing a wound on each hand and is being treated with serum to prevent possible infection.

Waisfield said he was bitten when the skunk walked across him and bit one hand.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY EVENTS

"Horsey" Set Looks Forward to Star Meets, and Country Club Climax

BIG DOINGS BY THE EASTERN HORSE CLUB Sunday materialize in preparation for their two days of racing at the Country Club in June. A meeting of the governors is now in order, since Augustus F. Goodwin is back in this country from a winter in England, and Bayard Tuckerman, John R. Macomber and other Eastern members are having a brief respite from race meet attendance. Certainly the "horsey" set hereabouts is to have its full of high class race meets and shows this Spring. The calendar shows a succession of important events with the Country Club revival the grand climax, June 15 and 17.

THE MILLWOOD TWO-DAY meet, June 3 and 4, is a fine sporting prelude to the Country Club. There is the Raceland meet and the Jacobs Hill meet, the first at the Macomber estate in Framingham and the second at the smart hand club just outside Framingham. All of which means that thoroughbred will do much traveling about in their enormous vans, from one show to another. Olaness as such a sports calendar, it appears King Horse is second only in interest and attention to the sweet bride, as long and so successfully queen of the Spring.

ALL THE PICTURESQUE detail that a bride of artistic attainments and a deft finger, famous as a painter, an actress will surround the marriage celebration today of Miss Rebecca Lindon Smith and William Ambrose Taylor, Jr. Miss Smith is a daughter of Joseph Lindon Smith, known on several continents for his work with the brush, and the ceremonial is a Big City super important event. Boston of course makes first claim to this interesting Joseph Lindon Smith family, that had a Mount Vernon street home until very recently, and spent Summers at Dublin. At least that was the program when they were not, separately or in toto, journeying hither and yon about the earth and into its remote places.

MRS. ARTHUR CURTIS JAMES of New York and Newport gave an enormous dinner for the Smith-Taylor wedding party on the wedding eve. The James always entertain royally whether it be ashore or aboard their world cruising yacht, the Aloha. It was aboard the Aloha that Mr. and Mrs. Smith sailed right around the world several years ago, when Mr. and Mrs. James were making one of their frequent water journeys. Mrs. John Francis A. Cecil (Cornelia Vanderbilt) in the wedding retinue is serving as did Miss Smith when Miss Vanderbilt's marriage to the young English diplomat took place.

MISS EMILY EVATT IS GOING DOWN TO WASHINGTON SOON. For a late May visit, Washington for Miss Evatt, who came out a year or two ago, means school days and she is "going back to school" for graduation and to renew schoolgirl friendships made at Mount Vernon. Miss Evatt is the attractive elder daughter of the Walter M. Evatt of Brookline, who have a delightful New Summer home in the Swampscott region for evermore sojourn as harboring the Presidential family in a "Summer White House." Miss Evatt's younger sister, Miss Catherine Evatt, is a debutante of the past Winter who combined school days and a coming out very successfully. She, too, is a student at Mount Vernon.

UNDERSTAND THAT MR. AND MRS. GASPARD BACON BOON join the European exodus. The "Senator" and his charming spouse are pulling up stakes for half year or so, and plan to be on the other side of the world fully six months. Mrs. Bacon it is who has led so successfully the junior cohorts of the S. F. C. C. that organization that does so fine a work with ill and abused youngsters and that enjoys a Smart Set backing second to none.

ALSO OUTBOUND AT THIS TIME, ON A STEAMER FROM Boston, so Mrs. Henry G. Vaughan of Barnboro, wife of the Master of the Norfolk Hounds, and Mrs. Charles B. Hopkinson, spouse of the well known painter, Charles Hopkinson. Mrs. Vaughan and Mrs. Hopkinson are going to England for some weeks, taking a leisurely crossing on one of the smaller steamers. Quite in contrast, this, to the ocean greyhounds that are floating palaces, vying with each other in the beauty of their appointments and the luxury of life aboard.

SATURN THAT LOOKS FOR all the world like its more fair a certain distinction. Her part is formerly presenting her to the Autumn.

RENEWAL OF SCHOOL DAY friendships occupies the attention of Mrs. John Riker Proctor, Mrs. Thomas P. Bell and Mrs. Charles A. Thwaitt, three matrons of Boston social prominence. They have been at Haverhill Lodge, New York, to celebrate in honor of their former school at Dobbs Ferry, the "Staves Masters" establishment that has helped to polish off so many smart young girls. Graduates gathered for an annual dinner, a large affair that brought attendance from near and far. Mrs. John Riker Proctor is the former Miss Anne Margaret Hall of New Orleans and Haverhill Lodge. Mrs. Thomas P. Bell is the former Miss Anne Margaret Hall of New Orleans and Haverhill Lodge. Mrs. Charles A. Thwaitt is the former Miss Anne Margaret Hall of New Orleans and Haverhill Lodge.

MIDDLESEX WOMEN VOTERS PLAN BRIDGE

Mrs. Marion Lawrence Hixson, third vice president of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, is opening a subscription for a bridge at the Middlesex County League of Women Voters. The bridge will be a year or two ago at the Camden Summer home of her mother, Mrs. Ernest Robbins.

He's a Great-grandfather getting, Germany, May 6 (A.P.)—President Von Hindenburg became a great-grandfather today when a daughter was born to Herta and Frau Hans Dietrich Von Preuss. Mrs. Von Preuss's mother is the President's sister and she is one of the prospective debutantes whose appearance at the Cotton Ball will give that large and important affair a certain distinction.

SUNDAY, MAY 29 FOR MEMORIAL

Massachusetts members of the O. A. R. are in a quandary today, as they do not know whether Memorial Sunday is to be celebrated on May 21 or May 29.

At the recent encampment here the commander-in-chief met May 21 as the date, and all the local posts prepared to observe it. Now, however, word comes from the national headquarters that Memorial Sunday should be celebrated on May 29. Massachusetts headquarters has sent out word that posts that arranged for observance on May 21 may do so, but the other posts be asked to defer the celebration until May 29.

David Copperfield

MR. PEGGOTTY had finally located Emily in London after Steerforth had deserted her. He entered her lodging house room the next day, and, finding her, Mr. Peggotty decided to take her to Australia where no one would know her sad story and she could begin life anew.

DAVID returned to Yarmouth with a letter from Emily to Ham, the fiance she had deserted. A terrific storm was raging and when he ran to the beach he saw a ship around. The crew had drowned and one survivor clung desperately to the mast of the doomed vessel.

THE man on the ship waved a red cap, as if in mad defiance of approaching death. Ham, the fisherman, reached the beach and, in spite of David's pleas, tied a rope about his waist and dashed into the sea in a wild attempt at rescue. David had no chance to give Ham, Emily's letter.

By Charles Dickens

HAM had almost reached the man when a huge wave engulfed him. He was dragged back, dead. The figure in the red cap was first lost by the same wave and, as he was washed ashore, drowned, David recognized—Steerforth!

MARGONI FREED BY AGREEMENT

Rome, May 6 (U. N. S.)—The Rota Tribunal today handed down its formal written decision of the annulment of the marriage of Senator Guglielmo Marconi and the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien.
The text of the Rota's decision indicates the nullification is based on the fact that Senator Marconi and his former wife entered a prenuptial agreement for a mutual divorce in the event either found the marriage unsuitable. Such an agreement is grounds for nullification under the Catholic law.
The evidence showed Marconi had considerable difficulty in getting his former wife to marry him, so neither party was certain the marriage would be a success.
Prince Piero Colonna gave evidence that Miss O'Brien married Senator Marconi against parental objections.

IRON BARS NEEDED FOR U. S. WOMEN, SAYS ENVOY

Washington, May 6 (A. P.)—The ideal woman is "the perfect wife and mother" with an unattainable something that gives her "a charm that the commonplace never equals." In the opinion of Senator Alexander C. McLean, U. S. Minister to the United States.
She needs neither love nor legal equality to give her a great place in the government of the world, he believes, but she does need, figuratively speaking, saloonette with iron bars to keep the world out and make her unattainable.
Speaking before the Woman's Universal Alliance, Senator Cret said, "I want to say my small praise at the feet of American women. She is the most charming of women. She has French class, Spanish fire, Nordic ability and American charm. She has all claims in one."
"The women of Venezuela," he said, "are a charming figure on a mountain back, a rose in her hand and a great love in her heart."

FRENCHMAN HAS REMEDY FOR MISSISSIPPI FLOOD

Paris, May 6 (A. P.)—Simple remedy for Mississippi floods just made son Father of Waters like so fast on his way to the Gulf that he won't have time to overflow. Details for acceleration of the river may be had by Uncle Sam from Monsieur Archambault, engineer, if he will send his bill to France.

AUTOISTS FLEE UNDER FIRE

After a wild chase through Brookline streets, during which five shots were fired, a party of unidentified autoists who refused to halt when ordered to do so by Patrolman Patrick Campbell, finally eluded the pursuing officer.
The autoist was patrolling Thatcher street in the Longwood district when he noticed the parked car. As he approached, the car started moving. The officer called for the motorist to halt, but instead they "swapped on the gas."
The policeman commanded a passing car and gave chase. He opened fire with his revolver and fired five shots during the mad race. The five shots reached Communist arena where they out-distanced the policeman.

A National Victory for Value and Volume

ALL ONE PRICE SIX SIXTY

"The Secret of Success is Constancy of Purpose"

LETTERS and telegrams just received from 70 Regal Managers in U.S.A.—from New York to San Francisco—show a 50% increase in sales in all Regal Stores for the month of April.

And April with Easter is the Business Barometer for Spring and Summer in the retail shoe business.

When new records for the month were chalked up on the Sales Bulletin Board showing the largest increase in the history of this business, there was just as much enthusiasm as if we were getting the returns from a National Election.

It was a landslide for Regal in every section of the country, and your "vote" did it. Old customers and a host of new friends were convinced, it was Unwise to pass, and Unnecessary to pay more.

We felt so happy about it that we thought everybody who helped produce the results would be interested in the returns.

Now when a National Institution, with an established business for more than one third of a century, breaks all records with a 50% increase there is only one answer, and that is: PUBLIC RECOGNITION OF UNUSUAL VALUE AND EXCEPTIONAL SERVICE AT A LOWER PRICE.

There is no secret about our success. There is no change in Management or Policy. The Founder of this Business is now the President of this Company. The man who sold the first pair of shoes in the first Regal Store continues to direct the Policy of a National Institution. The Regal Platform is the same today as when this business was started 34 years ago—One Price, One Quality, One Profit—from Maker to Wearer.

Increased Volume concentrated on One Quality reduces our Factory expense and increases our Factory production. Shipping direct to our own chain of Stores from Coast to Coast, with One Standard Price for all Styles in every Store, cuts the cost of selling.

You gave us the Volume that made the Value possible, and today the Regal Shoe Company is the largest One Price manufacturing retailer of high grade shoes in the world.

Hints on Ordering and Cooking of Cheaper Meats

By MARTHA LEE

HOW do you order your meat? "And a pound of top of the round" —over the telephone, or make at least two calls a week on the marketman and drive into the butcher's shop to select your meat. Your money is well spent and you are not willing to play the game good on whom the undesirable cuts can be foisted?

Remember, though, this "lawyer" is not synonymous with "unreliable."

A chuck rib of beef, properly cooked, is one of the most popular meats. It is so tender and juicy that it could eat before your husband and family have your most desired fish. Here are some good pointers on how to select good meat. Good beef should be firm, of even texture, bright red in color, when cut should be firm with a touch of lean flesh, and the meat white or pale cream color.

Beef should be a pale or light red and firm, and should show no fat and the fat should be almost white. Pork should be dark pink in color, the fat smooth and free from any fat and the fat should be almost white. Pork should be a pale or light red and firm, and should show no fat and the fat should be almost white. Pork should be a pale or light red and firm, and should show no fat and the fat should be almost white.

Advice to Lovelorn

By BETTIE FAIRFAX

CAN love exist without trust? It is possible to go on a love affair in or out of a man when you have found that he has no trust. This is the problem that worries "Lovelorn." As it has worried many another woman.

Dear Miss Fairfax, writes "Lovelorn." My problem has caused me sleepless nights. Will you please help me to solve it? "I have been going with a young man for seven months. We decided to try out our love before becoming married."

"We can only have one evening each week together, as he works all the other nights. Two weeks ago he did not come to see me as usual. I called up the office to ask whether he was sick and was told it was his night off."

"The next day he came in and said they had been at the office. He had been unable to get off any night during the week. I have found that he spent that evening with some girls from a nearby town."

"Since then I have seen him with others. I cannot bring myself to see him alone and I have kept my knowledge secret. Honestly, it is the best thing I have done for myself, but I have lost confidence in him."

"This is not the first time I have had cause to doubt him, but I am sure he gave him the benefit. Still I talk it all out with him and give him another chance. Or shall I just stop going with him? I do not know whether I am being foolish or not. I am sure he is not."

I AGREE with you, dear, that the best thing to do is to tell him the truth. He is the best person to tell the truth to. He is the best person to tell the truth to. He is the best person to tell the truth to.

However, it is not fair to judge him on the basis of one incident. He is a good man. He is a good man. He is a good man. He is a good man. He is a good man.

Then, if you wish to give him another chance, as a friend, you may do so. If you find, however, that he is inclined to lie, I cannot advise you to enter into an engagement of marriage with him. For love is a blind trust, and it is impossible to wholly love any person you do not believe trustworthy.

Troubles Caused By Depression

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D., Former President of the American Medical Association.

HAVE you ever been frightened? If so, you don't want to wait while your right hand, or left, or both, are suffering from depression. Or have you suffered grief or sorrow? If so, you were very lucky to have had poor digestion during the period of your depression. These are familiar experiences that are liable to befall anybody. In fact, in ordinary conditions of life an excitement, a worry, a shock may not infrequently follow by either immediate or late digestive disturbances.

The well-known fact that stress, excitement, and worry produce diarrhea, is a good illustration. All possible laboratory tests confirming the function of the alimentary canal, also the chemical quality of its contents, must be thoroughly investigated by competent men. Only after these examinations have been made, and only after a diagnosis of the stomach, intestines, and bowels has been made, can operations have been eliminated, a mental phase of the disorder should be thought of.

When one takes into consideration the importance of digestive functions around which, speaking generally, the entire life is organized, it can be readily understood why in psychopathic individuals the gastro-intestinal tract is the favorite seat of functional disorders.

Correct Manners Explained

By MRS. CORNELIUS BECKMAN

DEAR MISS BECKMAN: Please tell me the proper way to eat. I am a woman and my husband is deaf. Is it Mrs. Mary Jones or Mrs. John Jones? What is proper to sign to a letter? A WIDOW should be addressed as Mrs. John Jones, not as Mrs. Mary Jones. She carries this name on her name card. Immediately after Mr. John Jones.

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN: I have been taught to eat with my hands, such as peas, corn, carrots, and so forth, with a fork, some people insist that I am wrong. But when I see your answer I realize.

YOU are most emphatically your own master. The growing way, the correct way, to eat vegetables is with a fork. Just as babies graduate from the spoon ages to the fork and use an apron, so you should use a fork.

Weight Reducing

By Maria Jitz, Princess of the Metropolis

Without sacrifice of health, comfort or appearance. All that is necessary if you wish to lose weight is the use of good judgment in selecting a little less food of a little less satisfying quality than that to which you are accustomed.

In addition, walk three miles daily, drink plenty of water to wash away impurities and take exercises designed to assist the reducing process of whatever parts of your body are too stout for symmetry.

Lean on your back on the floor with your arms and legs straight. Now hug both knees affectionately to your chest. Return to first position, flat on your back. Rise to sitting position, using only your waist and back muscles to lift you. Not depending on your hands or arms.

Return again to first position. Repeat this exercise three times the first morning and increase the number of times each day until you can do it three times a day.

But do not try to eat less quickly. If you do, it is unwholesome and appears wherever padding of flesh has disappeared.

It is quite possible for a woman in normal health to reduce at the rate of about a pound each week.

THE RECKONING

By Celia Springer

BETTY KIRK, walking briskly down the crowded avenue, turned to see who was calling to her. Her pretty face dimpled in a smile of welcome as a breathless smartly-dressed girl approached her. "Hello, Harriet!" Betty greeted her friend with an exuberant smile. "When did you get back? Have a kiss!" "Lovely!" replied Harriet, enthusiastically. "I would have stayed another week—only I just had to hurry home and take the glad news. While she was talking she had peeled the red wax from her left hand, and then with a proud gesture, she displayed a beautiful diamond ring sparkling on her engagement finger. "Oh, Oh!" breathed Betty, wide-eyed wonder. "Isn't this a surprise thing? Is it the wonder?" "Yes, I'll tell you more about it," said Harriet, glancing at her jeweled wristwatch. "I must hurry. Jack's waiting for me and let me tell you what he's taking; leaving me to meet him. I'll call you tomorrow." And she rushed off, waving a very forlorn little hand.

"How do girls make men propose?" Betty demanded of her intelligence. "I like to know. Perry thinks he's a year and a half ahead of me and let me tell you what he's taking; leaving me to meet him. I'll call you tomorrow." And she rushed off, waving a very forlorn little hand.

beginning to enjoy this little game. "All right, then, goodbye!" Betty hung up with a vicious snap. Immediately Betty became pale. "I—I couldn't bear it!" and she caught her breath to keep from crying as she heard the telephone ring shrilly. "Hello, Betty!" came Perry's deep voice over the buzzing wires. "Are you busy tonight?" "No." "Then I'm coming over—will take a movie," suggested Betty in his commanding tone. Suddenly Betty felt indignation swell in her heart at Perry's self-confidence. So he thought he could come over whenever he wished, could keep torturing her with the uncertainty of things, and this when she loved him! Her heart was beating fiercely but she answered in a casual enough voice. "Oh, wait. I just happened to remember I did make an engagement for tonight!" "But Betty," persisted Perry in unbroken tones, "this is the night we usually go to the movies." "Well, I hadn't heard from you for over a week, so I thought you'd be too busy," said Betty sweetly.

little tricks to win her man? "You are this is why I was busy," Perry brought forth a small plush box. Betty watched him, wide-eyed with wonder as he snapped the lid back. A beautiful diamond ring lay there against satin—a ring which caused Betty to gasp. "I worked overtime," continued Perry smugly, "so that I could surprise you—and of all nights, this is the night which suits me best to happen tonight!" They were a block away from their home. Betty stopped and started a sob. Perry caught her about the waist. "Why—what is the matter, Betty?" he asked anxiously. "Nothing," she whispered—and then, "Oh, I'm sorry." She suddenly freed herself and said in a tone which she had to make stern. "But why were you so sure of me?" "Because," said Perry earnestly, "because I know that you loved me—as I love you. I couldn't let you get a setback." Then he cried out, "What will you do about your beauty over now?" Betty, stung, took hold of Perry's arm, and was going to keep the date. It introduced them to my fiancée," she said sweetly.

DON'T LOSE YOUR HEAD WHEN YOU'VE LOT OF WORK

Do you become puffy when you know you have a lot of work to do in a specified time?

Does your mind go in circles?

When you feel nervous, tense, control, get yourself in hand. Sounds contradictory but it is necessary.

It is worse than nervous to force yourself to greater effort.

You cannot take quick, consistently and of consequence when you are flustered and trying to speed up at the same time.

You can't control yourself any other way, stop work and compose yourself before you take the job.

To stop for a while may seem a waste of time to you but if you are successful in your efforts to get command of yourself that time is gained.

Many workers observe class as valuable and reliable are not trusted with important work because the knowledge of its importance makes them so nervous that they make errors.

A reliable worker is of greater value.

"suppressed desires"—it is the comic artists.

Every hair in a married man's head may mutely attest the strength and militancy of his wife's suppression. And every peevish twinkle in a wife's smile may be a monolith attesting to her husband's magnificent self-control.

No husband knows how oft in the stillly morn his fond wife chokes back the primitive desire to hurl the cushion at him, when he scornfully snuffs at her chap. Or insists on reading the newspaper aloud.

And there is seldom a dinner party at which the suffering hostess does not check a little yearning to fling her denigrating at her most serious husband as he bears him the wrong side up or sees him flitting with the wrong woman.

Suppressed desire! Without them, the earth would be simply littered with the dead and the dying.

If all the average woman's suppressed desires were laid out to end, they would create an earthquake that would shake the world from New York to Japan and back again!

Every happy marriage is built on a solid foundation of suppressed desires. The only difference between a devoted wife and a shrew is the difference in the number of desires which her SUPPRESSOR.

Twenty times a day a woman suppresses her desire to tell her husband she's tired about himself. Twenty times a day, the average man suppresses the desire to drag to

LITTLE BOBBIE AND HIS FATHER

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

WILLIAM F. KIRK is much more Sec. today than they were 20 years ago, and Ma to my old last.

Today are, are they? and Pa. You will that to show me, set Pa. Well, and Ma, in the last place, and Ma, when did you want to be a teacher, did you not? They certainly did, and Pa. It was no stranger like 20 years ago to see the tails of birds on the huds of old hens, and Pa.

Ma, and Ma, and what do we see now when we walk down the St. of a sunny day? and Ma. We see women with small, plain hats and no plume hats without frills and ruffles, and Ma. Can you deny it?

I will not deny that they dress more modestly, and Ma. The place little else than were nowadays set things husbands back more than ever, and Ma. I know, Pa. I pay, Father, and Ma, and Pa, with the dear lady may dress more modestly, you wouldn't dare to tell me that, but they themselves are more modest than the ladies of 20 years ago.

On the contrary, Pa, they are about 10 times as modest as the women of that far time, and Pa. It is the truth, and Ma. I drop into a sofa now, and then, and Pa, just for old times sake, it is a surprising statement, and Pa, to see the lady carrying on today in those of quick. The parents of those flappers will do all the spanking that is required, Ma and Pa.

But will they? and Pa. Will they? No, and Pa, the parents are to blame. They let the kids run wild. A wren the kids go to peck the parents' ankles, and Pa.

You & Ma, went never away on account of me, I said, because I ain't going to peck. I am going to be a gracie man one of these days, I ain't sure with that, I said.

Instead of "Paw" he bellers "What'll you have?"

He dug up the turf the other morning and was penning two drinks.

THE longest drive he ever made was five hundred yards and he did it in a hat.

MEDBURY SAYS...

By JOHN F. MEDBURY

WILLIE thousands of Medbury officers are learning the game seriously, a lot of them are only taking it up for the drink.

THEY don't care anything about Medbury and eagles. What they care is a swallow at every hole.

ONE man has only seen on the links twice and he can already drink the course in.

INSTEAD of clover, he asked the country club to plant the trees in rye.

HE doesn't bother with caddies. He uses ginger ale for a caddy.

HE flunk to his score card.

DAY before yesterday he made nine holes in a plot and a half.

EVERY stroke was verified by his bootlegger.

His shots were perfect. He swung straight from the hip.

ONE fellow is so fond of the game that he has a demolition for a golf ball.

ONE day he was a cork screw and a bottle opener.

INSTEAD of "Paw" he bellers "What'll you have?"

He dug up the turf the other morning and was penning two drinks.
